

Schedule of Events in Washington on Belarus Freedom Day

March 25 will be the 91st anniversary of the Declaration of the Belarusian Democratic Republic. On this day, Belarusian-American Association will organize and take part in the following events in Washington, D.C.:

12:15 PM – Wreath-Laying Commemoration at the Victims of Communism Monument

The VOCCM is at the intersection of Massachusetts and New Jersey Avenues, NW.

March 25 will be the 91st anniversary of the Declaration of the Belarusian Democratic Republic. On this day, Belarusian-American Association will organize and take part in the following events in Washington, D.C.:

12:15 PM – Wreath-Laying Commemoration at the Victims of Communism Monument

The VOCCM is at the intersection of Massachusetts and New Jersey Avenues, NW. Map

1:30 PM – Congressional Office visits handing out information about Belarus

Meeting place at the Cannon House Office Building corner at the intersection of Independence Avenue and 1st Street SE. Map

5:00 PM – Central and Eastern European Coalition (CEEC) Policy Reception

BAZA is a member of the CEEC. In honor of NATO and its enlargement and supporting U.S. engagement in central and eastern Europe, with Senator Voinovich and other speakers from Congress and current and former Administration officials (materials about BAZA will be distributed and displayed).

Caucus Room in the Russell Senate Office Building (Room 325) at the intersection of Constitution Avenue and 1st Street NE.

Map

Please rsvp to baza.dc@gmail.com by March 20 if you are interested to participate in all or any of these activities.